

586 Stephen Street

Built in 1885 this house has been known as the “Porter House”, possibly after the builder. Other sources say that the house was built for the Parker family. The earliest records indicate that Franklin Morden, one of the community’s original settlers, owned the land. By the style of the house, it may have been built as a farmhouse. Note the metal roofing on the clipped gable roof, the hipped gable, broad porch and nice stonework. While there is some mystery surrounding the origins of the home, it is possibly the town’s oldest house. The Wilson family presently owns the property.
